

INGMAR BERGMAN FOUNDATION

Stiftelsen Ingmar Bergman/the Ingmar Bergman Foundation was established in 2002 by Svenska Filminstitutet/the Swedish Film Institute in collaboration with Kungliga Dramatiska Teatern/the Royal Dramatic Theatre, Sveriges Television AB, and AB Svensk Filmindustri. The objective is to administrate, preserve and provide information about Ingmar Bergman's collected artistic works.

The Collections: Ingmar Bergman donated his personal archives of manuscripts, working papers, contracts, correspondence, stills and photographs to the Swedish Film Institute after which the Ingmar Bergman Foundation Archives were established. This special collection of materials contains in-depth documentation of Bergman's career as a writer, film director, stage director and producer.

Access: The Archives are not open to the public. The collections are only accessible for research or study after an individual application has been made to the Board of the Ingmar Bergman Foundation for a decision. In accordance with the deed of donation, the collections are only to be made available to qualified individuals and to recognized writers for advanced academic research and studies. For reasons of preservation, the collections of original documents have been digitized and made available in that form.

Conditions of Use: The conditions of use for research in the Archives are listed on pages 4 and 5 of this application. Retain the last page of the application as a reference copy of the rules of the Ingmar Bergman Archives. If you wish to use the materials made available to you in any way other than that which is stipulated in this application, you must notify the Foundation immediately. All use of the materials in the Archives requires the written permission of the Foundation.

The Catalogue: An online catalogue providing a guide to the documents in the archives is available at <http://www.ingmarbergman.se/arkivet>, the Ingmar Bergman Foundation Archives website.
